DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 2, and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kaneda et al, US Patent 4,536,887 in view of Marash, US Patent 5,825,898. Kaneda et al teach a microphone array comprising a reference microphone 1₄ and three satellite microphones 1₁ to 1₃ in figure 21D. All sounds are captured by the microphones. Kaneda et al do not disclose averaging the signals from the satellite microphones and subtract the averaged signal from the signal of the reference microphone. Marash discloses a system for reducing interference comprising a plurality of microphones 1a-1d, a main channel matrix 3, and a reference channel matrix 4. Figure 11 demonstrates the procedure followed by the DSP of the system. The procedure involves calculating the average of all the reference channels and subtracting the average from the main channel power. Thus Marash teaches averaging the signals from the satellite microphones (reference channels) and subtracting the average from the reference microphone (main channel). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to modify Kaneda et al per the teachings of Marash for the purpose of reducing noise interference. Claim 1 is rejected. As to claim 2, the transducers are microphones. As to claim 7, the signals are inherently subjected to transduction.

Allowable Subject Matter

Art Unit: 2615

Claims 8-20 are allowed.

Claims 3-6 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:

The prior art of record does not disclose nor suggest a housing which holds the reference transducer and satellite transducers in correct relation to one another. In addition, there is no teaching of connecting the satellite transducers in parallel between a DC biased signal wire and electrical ground or providing an adjustable portion of the average signal to be subtracting from the reference signal.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Erten, US Patent Application Publication 2002/0009203 and Johnston, US Patent 7,149,315.
